Dear Parent/Carers

During the summer term, we trialled a new behaviour model throughout the school that is more in line with our therapeutic approach. The new model is designed to clearly outline what our expected behaviours are at South Hill Primary School. We want children to be happy and feel safe here at school, our new behaviour model allows teaching opportunities for unexpected behaviour so that if a child displays 'unexpected behaviours' staff will have an opportunity to discuss with that child why it is unexpected and what we do expect.

The model below displays our examples of expected and unexpected behaviours as well as incentives/consequences and teaching points. Each incident is taken on an individual basis and appropriate reward or consequence is issued. We also have a Behaviour Support Chart in class to aide children in the steps prior to a consequence being issued.

Thank you for your co-operation

Yours sincerely

L Shane
